We are a Spanish NGO with international Scope, pioneers since 2001 in social use of technologies to generate digital empowerment through citizen participation and technological volunteering. We promote the use and knowledge of technology as a means to alleviate social rights, generate social innovation and favour citizens rights by enhancing their opportunities. We currently have a network of 1.800 cybervolunteers and collaborate directly with more than 1.000 organizations. Thanks to our activities, we can reach about 60.000 people annually through free digital skills training activities and events.

OUR MISSION

Ensuring that all people have the opportunity to access, learn about and use technologies as a means to improve any aspect of their lives or their environment.

OUR VISION

We promote the use and knowledge of technology by citizens to guarantee Human Rights, acting as social living lab using new digital tools and ideas with social impact to achieve the Agenda 2030.

Technology as a tool that helps citizens to generate impact and social transformation. We create custom projects collaboratively, almost always replicable and scalable, from local to global, in a disruptive, open, transparent, ethical, sustainable and inclusive way. We are pioneers in technological volunteering, an international benchmark that combines technology and the social good. Cibervoluntarios has been an internationally recognized by the Financial Times as one of the Europe's 100 Digital Champions.
